The built-in sheet, also referred to as a contour sheet is just that, a sheet is s sewed with rubber, either at each of the (4) corners or across the perimeter (called a shower cap design). A walled sheet is placed on top of the mattress. With today's thicker layers, look for a deep pocket sheet. Vero's mounted sheets are made with an extra deep pocket of 17 and are generous enough to fit on almost any mattress. Most luxury linen manufacturers produce their mounted sheets with a pocket of 14 to 17. Although there may be some slight variation in the size of the mattresses by the manufacturer, the layers are generally classified as follows:

Gemini..... 39 x 75 Ex Long Twin 39 x 80 Full or Double..... 54 x 75
Queen..... 60 x 80
King..... 78 x 80 Cal - King 72 x 84 It is important that someone understands what your mattress size is, as well as how thick your mattress is. If you buy a mounted sheet or mattress protector we will declare the depth separately in the width and length of the mattress. For example, Super King extra deep mounted sheet 6ft x 6ft 6 (183 x 200cm) + 15 (38cm) depth or Super King extra deep prostate layer 6ft x 6ft 6 (183 x 200cm) + 15 (38cm) depth It is best to buy your mounted sheet or mattress protector at least 2 - 3 inch (8cm) deeper than your mattress to allow a good tuck in and avoid the common problem of your sheets coming away inside. Night. For example, you would not put a 12 (30cm) placed sheet on a 12 (30cm) layer would not be deep enough, you will need the extra deep 15 (38 cm). If your mattress is only 9 (20cm) deep then a 10 (25cm), 11 (28cm) or 12 (30cm) mounted sheet will all work perfectly, but you can use an extra deep 15 (38cm) if you wish. Never buy the wrong size sheet, for example a super king placed sheet for a king size bed, just buy a king size mounted sheet that is deep enough for your mattress. As long as you buy the right size of the placed sheet width and length, then it doesn't really matter if the sheet is too deep because the excess tuck just under the mattress. The better the rule is the deeper the better, then even if you add a mattress topper later your placed sheet is still quite deep. Deep sheets weren't something you'd find on the market in the past. However, manufacturers make many types of mattresses today besides a traditional mattress. Thus, not all sheets fit all layers and if you choose the wrong sheets, they will not stay in your bed. What are deep pocket sheets? Manufacturers make deep pocket sheets to fit a top layer of pillows, the top layer of euro, a mattress with a topper, or the latest tight top deep layer to be seen on the market. Regular sheets typically accommodate layers between 7 and 14 inches in the background. If your mattress height exceeds 14 inches, you will probably need deep pocket sheets. As the name suggests, they are deeper than average leaves so they can stretch above the extra height. Measure your mattress The only way to ensure that you buy the right sheets for your bed is to measure the mattress depth. Otherwise, your sheets will not fit properly and will pop out of your bed. Using a ruler or measuring tape, measure the depth of your mattress from top to bottom by pressing slightly down on top. You want to measure the finished height as soon as the leaves pull the top layer. Note the measurement. Deep or extremely deep pockets To complicate things, there are deep and very deep pocket sheets. Generally, most deep pocket sheet sets like these Vilano springs fit a 15-inch deep layer, or less. Don't just assume because manufacturers report that it's deep pocket that will fit a 15-inch deep layer. Always read the manufacturer's product entry or packaging to confirm the pocket depth. Manufacturers make special deep pocket sheets also for very deep layers. They can range in depth from 16 to 22 inches. For example, these deep Pocket sheet sets by Vilano fit a 21-inch layer, or less. It never hurts to buy the leaves slightly deeper than you need as the tyre pulls the mounted sheet stretched independently. As a rule, it is always advisable to buy cards that indicate the size of their pocket. Otherwise, the size of a deep or very deep set of sheets can vary significantly. For example, deep pocket sheets can be any depth between 13 and 17 inches. Extremely deep leaves can be any depth between and 25 inches. This is a huge range and if your leaves are too deep you should tuck the excess under the mattress. Don't forget your bed size With all the fuss over pockets, forget deep-pocket and ultra-deep pocket sheets also come in various sizes. Fortunately, the leaves mentioned above come in twin, twin XL, full, queen, king, california king, and separate king sizes and many colors to suit almost any bed and décor. You can also buy 100% cotton 22 inch extra-deep sheets sesin twin, full, queen, king, and california king. Whether you want silky, luxurious cotton or easy microfibre care, choose the one that suits you and your lifestyle. Choosing leaves wisely ensures that you will enjoy them for years. Years.
